The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the research and the objectives of the study. It then presents a literature review of the existing research on the topic. The second part of the paper describes the methodology used in the study, including the data collection and analysis techniques. The third part of the paper presents the results of the study, and the fourth part discusses the implications of the findings. The paper concludes with a summary of the main findings and a list of references.

The research was conducted in a systematic and rigorous manner, following the principles of good research practice. The data was collected from a representative sample of the population, and the analysis was carried out using appropriate statistical methods. The results of the study are presented in a clear and concise manner, and the implications of the findings are discussed in detail. The paper is well written and easy to read, and it provides a valuable contribution to the field of research.

The findings of the study have important implications for the field of research, and they provide a basis for further research. The research has shown that there is a need for further research in this area, and it has identified some of the key areas for future research. The research has also shown that there are some important factors that need to be taken into account when conducting research in this area.

The research has been carried out in a transparent and open manner, and the results have been made available to the public. The research has been peer reviewed, and it has been found to be of high quality. The research has been published in a reputable journal, and it has been cited by other researchers in the field.

The research has been carried out in a timely manner, and it has provided valuable information at a time when it is needed. The research has been carried out in a cost-effective manner, and it has provided a good return on investment. The research has been carried out in a way that has minimized any potential bias, and it has provided a reliable and valid result.

The research has been carried out in a way that has taken into account the needs and interests of the community. The research has been carried out in a way that has been respectful of the rights and dignity of all people. The research has been carried out in a way that has been transparent and open, and it has provided a valuable contribution to the field of research.

The research has been carried out in a way that has been consistent with the principles of good research practice. The research has been carried out in a way that has been rigorous and systematic, and it has provided a reliable and valid result. The research has been carried out in a way that has been transparent and open, and it has provided a valuable contribution to the field of research.

100th Anniversary Edition

Since its opening in 1959, thousands of students have graduated from Andrean High School with a Catholic education that prepares them for life. Almost as important, Andrean also provides students with memories that they can carry with them throughout their lives. Whether it is a winning sports season, a particularly interesting class, or a new friendship, everyone leaves with at least one memory of high school.

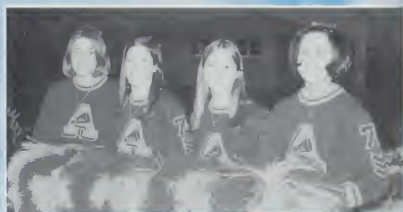

Every year students anticipate the arrival of their year-books as an excuse to remember all of the memory-making events of the previous year. Because this is a special year in Andrean's history, we will not only be reminded of the things that made 1999 special, but also of the events of the past forty years. Each picture tells a story, and together these stories make up the history and traditions of Andrean. It is with these traditions in mind that we are all

From PJs to red and gold, we celebrate

Spirit Week

Lathaniel Staten and Trammel Waddell have the right look on Andrean wear day.

Mike McMahon sports an angelic grin as he is pulled along by fellow senior Erin Moran during the homecoming pep rally.

Boys won't be boys—at least during pep rallies! Seniors Greg Farley, Justin Kassie, Derrick delRosario, and Brian Surdy perform a memorable cheerleading routine as the juniors show their appreciation.

Mary Hernandez decorates lockers in preparation for the hall judging, proving that even though they are young, freshmen can still get in the game.

Eve Rak doesn't match, but then no one does! It is mismatch day and students happily break every fashion rule.

Just because they are in pajamas is no excuse not to study as Jamie Larsen, Angela Ranta, Tina Bednarczyk, and Kelly Martin intently prepare for their quiz.

Angela Cruse, Nicole Black, and Arletrice Brown seem to be reading to their stuffed animals on pajama day. Public speaking books are likely to put them right to sleep.

Greg Farley has Tina Bednarczyk jumping for joy at the pep rally.

DONE TO DEATH

the hilarious murder mystery

During one of many small skits performed within the show, Mr. Summers (Dan Sarnowski), Whitney Olive (Robert Emond), and Jessica Olive (Angela Sanchez) act out a mystery written by Whitney.

Jessica Sanchez and Rodney Duckton (Darren Zancan) discuss further complications in the plot.

Brad Benedict (Ryan Cortazar) tells his secretary (Meredith Hallett) he knows that she is a spy who works for the enemy.

Brad Benedict, Whitney Olive, and Mildred Maxwell (Debbie Trembicki) listen to yet another version of the plot as Mildred completes her knitting project.

Jane, the maid (Sarah James) receives instructions from Gregory, the butler (Dan DeBonis), on picking up the guests at the dock.

George (Alan Saunders) hires "the man" (Mr. Guzman) to kill his wife, Martha.

In response to a call for "curtain," the stage hand (Brandon Jaynes) produces a jar of gherkins.

The doomed wife Martha (Tarah Sims) carries on a conversation with her lover.

Bradley Benedict (Ryan Cortazar) lies dead on the floor after succumbing to his own fatal device.

A Valentine Tradition Mommy Date Night

Freshman Gerald Bardeson and his mom show off their identical big smiles before entering the dance floor.

Treating their moms to dinner for a change, freshmen Zachary Dehm, Ryan Cortazar and Tim Schwuchow exchange nervous but satisfied smiles.

Gene Maya and his mom share a traditional slow dance before the night comes to a close.

Juniors Neal Drasga, Mike DeBonis, Rick Cortazar, and Nate Holscher show they are no wall flowers as they get into the groove on the dance floor.

It's Just a Walk in the Park...

Turnabout '99

"Winter in the City"

Sharing a special moment between long-time friends, Erin Woloshansky and Erin Moran get together for a picture.

Kurt Shimala and Miranda Brakley make their way out to the dance floor to join their friends.

Juniors Zak Klobucar and Todd Miles are in the spotlight as they show off their original dance moves to their dates.

John Zaborske, Krissy Wynkoop, Alan Saunders, Debbie Trembicki, Kelli Manigrasso, and her date bunch up for a memory-filled picture.

Tony Pagorek and Hector Espinosa take a moment out from their romantic evening to get a picture of "just the guys."

Elizabeth Grzych and her date relax after finishing their dinner.

Bob Thomas, John Barrow and Jeremy Stockwell show their crazy side while grouping on the dance floor.

Prom'99 - Memories that Last Ever After

Zach Sears and his date, along with Carie Rogers and Brian Jarecki, snuggle up after enjoying their dinners.

As cameras flash one after the other, Prom King Bob Laude and Queen Valencia Gant begin searching for their dates for the spotlight dance.

During a lull in the rain, Steve Stimac and Gary Justak show that they have what it takes to be tuxedo models as they pose by some of the castle's outdoor scenery.

Stefanie Krajewski and her date find an empty space to dance on the crowded floor.

Cloe Lay, Heather Daniel, Candice Myrick, and Stephanie Carlisle join two friends before returning to their dates on the dance floor.

Holly Bauser captures a last slow dance with her date as she reflects on some special memories.

When the music picked up, so did Lindsay Cunningham and Angela Ranta, doing the last "YMCA" of their high school years.

Let the games begin!

Armageddon '99

Angie Provenzano, Erin Furman, Annie Puntillo and Jeff Hadt show junior spirit by lighting the Armageddon torch.

Art Johnson proudly represents the senior class as he carries the torch through the gym.

With beanbag in hand, Evvie Orfanos does her best to beat Nick Pannos's distance as she strains against the bungee cord.

A cool pool was just the place to be as the sun heated the track. Sarah Watson, Ann Krilich, and Steve Goin take advantage of the refreshing water.

Juniors Rob Stochel, John Barney and Diogo da Silva use all their strength to beat the opposing senior boys at tug-of-war.

Erin Moran and LaMarr Taylor work together to assemble their baby as representatives of the senior class.

Rueben Pedroza and Angie Provenzano look at their completed baby in defeat after losing to the seniors in the competition.

Antonio Greppi watches as Lyndsey Wilson and Jeremiah Sinclair bargain with Jon Runes for more Monopoly property.

Taking the Challenge to Serve our Communities

Cathy Giorgio, Emily Pancheri and Debbie Trembicki pack up food collected by the German Club for Thanksgiving dinners for homeless shelters.

The more things change, the more things stay the same.

This is certainly true for one central aspect of the Andean community-service.

Serving the school and the many communities its students live in has always been and remains a vital part of the Andean students' lives. Through volunteer work in various classes and organizations to aiding in the growth of their own communities while earning community service hours, the student body has gained many new experiences and a deeper understanding of the world it is preparing to enter. Traditional service projects include the German Club food drive, National Honor Society tutoring and nursing home visits, the Student Council blood drive, YARC Club parties, class-sponsored Toys-for-Tots collections, and weekly mission collections.

This year new activities were taken on. The Student Council prepared Easter baskets for children at Riley Children's Indianapolis hospital. A competitive as well as helpful activity for victims of the Central American hurricanes, known as "Penny Wars," the purpose was to encourage class competition by assigning point values to various coins and having students give their pocket change away to finance the "war" as well as help out a worthy cause. Mission collections were taken up for special causes, such as victims of school violence across the nation. National Honor Society participated in several fundraisers, including one for St. Jude Children's Hospital and another to purchase technology for Camp Catch-A-Rainbow.

The students involved in these projects are a diverse group, but guided by the Andean spirit, all come together in the name of helping others.

THE WAY WE WERE

Over the years the clubs and organizations that students have enjoyed have changed almost as much as the students themselves. Pictured here are some of the faces and activities from the past 40 years. At the right members of an early Booster Club prepare for one of the first of many big games. Below are some of the letter winners, proving that Niner success began early. The girls at the right show what life was like before Title 9 gave equal opportunity to girls in the gym and on the playing fields. Prior to that act, girls relied on GAA (Girls' Athletic Association) for fun and sports. In 1963 Andean's first graduating class braved the fresh air for their exercise.

In past years girls were teamed up so that every new student had her own "big sister" to rely on when she had questions. No one knows whether that limited the search for the elevator and the swimming pool, but certainly they all had fun.

Until recent years artistic and dramatic talents could be combined by joining the Clown Troupe. After perfecting make-up and acting skills, clowns served in a variety of ministries.

In 1973 girls joined Our Lady of Good Council Sodality. Service projects as well as social gatherings brought the members together.

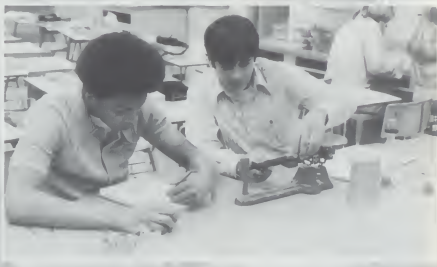

Those who joined the Forensic Society participated in speech and debate contests throughout the area. Here students prepare for a discussion on pacifism.

Looking to their futures, many students chose to belong to Future Homemakers of America, Future Scientists of America, or Future Business Leaders.

Academics

Gina Nicolini and Tonya Vachirasomboon look over Cheryl Bosse's shoulder in an attempt to help her fit her final stained glass pieces.

Mike Nagy, Brandon Jaynes, and Eric Miner check each others' work to make sure it goes together seamlessly.

Natalie Doyne and Melanie Wilson carefully tape the human limbs and torso together to create the perfect position.

Mrs. Koteles's ceramics class makes a toast in Middle Age fashion using the goblets they have just hand crafted.

Samantha Mizwicki and Noel Betczynski mold, cut, and shape the clay from a shapeless mass into objects ranging from landscapes to fairies.

Concentrating while at the pottery wheel, Rob Moreth gets to experience the joy of making a pot from start to finish.

Art

During Grand Strategy, a World War I simulation, Jesse Ruiz and Elaine Pankowski decide to sign the treaty after getting another opinion.

Mr. Szot, the Grim Reaper, reads off a startling alliance given to him by Tim Rhyne and Raleigh Smallwood.

Brandon Hurey, Kelly Harville, Jeremy Stockwell, and Gary Justak wait in anticipation for the next question.

Shanae Coleman reacts to some terrible news brought to her by her country's ambassador, Cathryn Wynn.

Charlie Watson takes a quick glance to the side to ensure no one is spying on his talks with Carrie King as they plot global domination.

Blake Johnston, after careful planning, makes his next move on his way to taking over the world in his game of Axis and Allies with Aaron Hopkins.

Meghann Sullivan turns to the candidates to see what their reaction to a question is.

Carrie Drapac confers with her countrymen to find out their views on whether or not to sign the next treaty.

Gretchen Messenger prepares to move in on the ball from the hot corner.

Facing down the batter Jeremy Stockwell delivers his fastball on the way to completing his 5 and 3 record.

With the crack of a bat Eric DeRolf moves into position.

With his eye on the ball Ryan Laude prepares to step into the pitch.

FACULTY

CLASS OF 2002

As their first year began, the freshmen elected as class officers Candice Lopez, Melanie Sims, Meagan Augsten, and Jamie Gutowski. By mid-year the officers had put together a lock-in at the Omni over the Presidents' Day holiday.

At their first Daddy Date Night Kristy Harville and Joan Krilich found time to share a few laughs.

RETREATS

In one of their last activities as a class, seniors gather for their final retreat. Val Ladic, Jeanette Rakoczy, Nicole Pliske, and Cathy Bosse begin the day with a reflection of their years at Andean.

Chris Rak, Art Johnson, Brandon Hurey, and Matt Nowak prepare for the day with a discussion of the memories they will take with them from their four years.

Just before the seniors celebrated their last retreat and Mass, the freshmen experienced their first. With the help of seniors, such as Dan Beardsley, Steve Mandula began the day with a group meditation.

By day's end these seniors, Elizabeth Grzych, Jen Hoffman, Katie Jones, and Erica Joson seem ready for a nap.

In an effort to promote cooperation, teams of freshmen raced to complete their puzzle before the opposition.

Classmates took a moment to share a hug and offer an apology to someone they had hurt during their four years.

India Lott and Amanda Maldonado wait to offer their insights in the discussion

This team of puzzlers seems intent on being the first ones finished as they sort pieces in their cooperative effort.

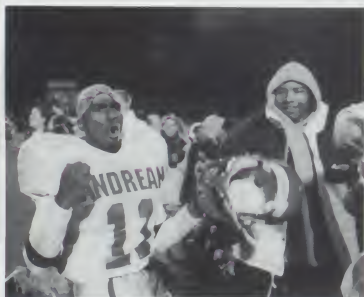

Jasmine McCully leads her group, including Diamond McClam and Ryan Campbell.

Nate Daniels, Rob Smith, Mike Escalante, and Rob Knight get ready for their final in-school Mass.

BACCALAUREATE

During the celebratory Mass Father Quanz assists Bishop Melczyk at the Gospel.

Amelia Back shares the wisdom of St. Paul during the reading of the Epistles.

Few eyes remain dry as Tricia Alessandrini and Holly Bauser join their voices in the familiar song, "I Will Remember You."

Stephanie Carlisle steps forward to receive a final blessing from Father Quanz during the distribution of the Eucharist.

Kara Austgen shares a sign of peace with Miranda Brakley and Cathy Bosse.

Rebecca Fama and Greg Farley are all smiles as they join voices for the closing hymn.

Kristin Babusiak receives the Eucharist from the Bishop as the Bacculaureate Mass comes to a close.

Katie Malinich and Mike Escalante greet each other at the sign of peace as one of their final acts as members of the class of '99.

Mr. Gloff led the choir as they once again added the beauty of their voices to the celebration of the Mass.

Marko Zientara used his drums to accompany the choir during the "Alleluia."

Evelyn Bottando reaches out to the audience during the Offertory as she leads the responsorials.

Brandi Allen and Amanda Arceo-Negrich listen to the petitions calling for prayers and guidance for the members of their class.

COMMENCEMENT

Graduates Kelly Harville and Jeanette Rakoczy accept congratulations from sister Julie Rakoczy.

Valedictorian Erin Moran closes her speech with a reflection from her youth when she quotes from the Muppets' "Saying Goodbye."

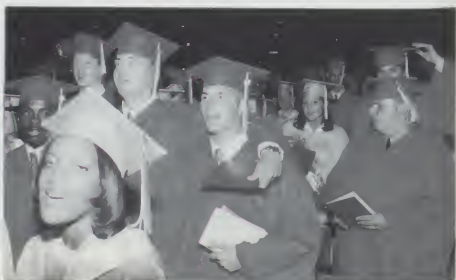

Having received their diplomas, Art Johnson, Derrick delRosario, Bryan Surdy, and Mike Nagy are ready to face the world as well as the approaching party scene.

James Chapko steps forward to receive his diploma as well as congratulations from the Bishop. James accepted an award for four years of perfect attendance.

As class officer, LaMarr Taylor related the significance of the various class symbols that were presented during the ceremony.

The alma mater rang out as the class of '99 sang for the last time.

Salutatorian Ann Krilich encourages her classmates to aim for the stars as she completes her address.

Smiles abound as Robert Smith congratulates Naytonie Williams and Jacquese White on their achievements.

Anxious to get on with the program, Bettina Kilgore, Ryan King, Courtney Kinkade, and Kyle Klein wait for their chance to ascend the stage.

Justin Kassie and Joey Keyak share their joy after receiving their diplomas.

The Bishop presents Alex Ousley with her diploma as Father Quanz shares in Alex's accomplishment.

The class of '99 enters the ranks of Andreadan alumni as they collectively move their tassels to the left.

Looking back on 40 years of history shows that although many things have changed at Andean, the school still follows the same basic principles. We continue to live our daily lives according to the motto "Magister Meus Christus", or "Christ is my teacher", and the school continues to thrive due to the hard work and dedication of parents, alumni, faculty, and administration. Although extra rooms and athletic facilities have been added to the original structure of Andean High School, the building remains, as it was 40 years ago, a symbol of quality Catholic education.

Graduates will be bonded forever by the knowledge that they are all members of a community of faith, fun, and learning. Although students only remain at Andrean for four years, they are a part of the Andrean family forever.

The background of the page is a grayscale photograph. In the upper left, a sign reads "OUT OF THE ORDINARY". To the right, several yearbook covers are visible, with one clearly showing the word "ADDITIONAL".

The covers of the fourteen yearbooks in the background represent just one tangible sign of the dedication of Mrs. Joyce Thomas to Andean High School. With her retirement in 1998, she leaves behind not only these books but also a record of scholarship that endures in the many students whose lives she has touched.

Since her departure from the Decussata staff, her influence has continued to be felt. It will be for years to come. And so, a grateful school and staff reluctantly says, "Goodbye, good luck," and quite literally, "Thanks for the memories?"

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.2 million (Office for National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 65 and over is projected to increase to 6.5 million by 2011, and the number of people aged 75 and over to 4.5 million (Office for National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health care needs of older people, and the need to ensure that health care services are accessible and appropriate for older people. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible.
- Older people should be able to access the health and social care services they need when and where they need them.
- Older people should be able to participate in decisions about their health and social care.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including:

- To improve the health and social care of older people.
- To ensure that health and social care services are accessible and appropriate for older people.
- To ensure that older people are able to participate in decisions about their health and social care.

The strategy is a key document in the development of health and social care services for older people. It sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people, and provides a framework for the development of health and social care services for older people.
